

Editorial Graphics and Publishing Services

What is the Difference Between a Reference List and a Bibliography?

A reference list consists of only the sources that have been included in the text of the assignment.

A bibliography consists of all sources used in gathering information for the assignment, some of which are not directly included in the text.