

The five stars program that I use in my class in another behavior management system.

Students earn stars throughout the day by finishing work, helping others, listening and following directions, turning in homework, etc.

The number of stars that each student earns for the day is put up on our 5 stars chart.

Then at the end of the week we total them up. Students who have 15 or more stars get 5 STAR TIME - and they get to do an activity of their choice - games, computer, helping the teacher, etc.

Parents of Ms. Vancavage's & Mrs. Hart's Class ~

We wanted to remind everyone about the 5 STARS Behavior Management System that we use in our classroom. We all hold high expectations for our students/children but they also need to be praised and rewarded for their hard work. Please remember...

5 Stars ~ Super Star!!!!

4 Stars ~ Awesome Star!!!!

3 Stars ~ Good Star!!!

If your child comes home with 0, 1, or 2 stars than you need to be concerned and he or she should be given a consequence. Any questions please let us know! We appreciate your help and support!
