INTRODUCTION

The third phase of reforming the professional development and evaluation programs for all employees of Montgomery County Public Schools (MCPS) began July 1, 2005, with the implementation of the Supporting Services Professional Growth

System (SSPGS). This followed the rollout of similar systems for teachers and administrators and supervisors. These systems focus on building the capacity of staff to work efficiently and effectively with clear expectations and professionalism in achieving the school system's goal of providing the best educational opportunities for all students. Leaders from all of the employee representative organizations played an important role in shaping the professional growth systems, and this new phase represented the first successful effort to improve the structure for developing, training, and evaluating supporting services staff in almost 30 years.

A collaborative planning process for the SSPGS was established between the leadership of Service Employees International Union (SEIU) Local 500 and MCPS to design a system that would meet the professional development needs of the over 9,000 permanent support professionals who represent over 40 percent of the MCPS workforce of more than 24,500 employees. This process coincides with efforts to improve performance and accountability throughout the district, not only among students in terms of academic achievement, but also among teachers, administrators, and staff in fulfilling rigorous expectations for a highperforming organization. A comprehensive reform initiative of this magnitude—rarely undertaken let alone achieved elsewhere in the United States—underscores the commitment of our school system and unions to plan for the future and ensure the provision of a highquality workforce.

Supporting services consists of all non-administrative and non-teacher-level positions. There are approximately 500 different supporting services position classifications. With this in mind, the development of the professional growth system recognizes the role of supporting services employees as multifaceted, everchanging, and integral to supporting teaching and learning. The SSPGS establishes an infrastructure that describes the skills and knowledge required for supporting services staff to assist in building learning communities for students and adults.

Similar to the professional growth systems for teachers and administrators and supervisors, the purpose of the SSPGS is to establish a comprehensive system for recruiting, staffing, developing, evaluating, recognizing, and retaining high-quality supporting services staff in all of our schools and offices. This initiative supports ongoing strategies to ensure the employment of highly qualified and diverse personnel. As with the professional growth systems for teachers and administrators and supervisors, the SSPGS clearly outlines employee expectations for the evaluation process and the peer support process for underperforming supporting services staff.

SUPPORTING SERVICES PROFESSIONAL GROWTH SYSTEM MISSION STATEMENT

The SSPGS is a collaborative process that promotes workforce excellence by applying a core competency model in order to encourage personal and systemic growth and focus on performance through continuous improvement.

PREAMBLE

Organizational Culture of Respect Statement

MCPS recognizes and values the role of all employees as contributors to a learning community that sets high standards of performance for staff and students. By working together through continuous improvement, effective communication, and meaningful involvement in the decision-making process, we provide a high-quality education to every student. We are committed to shared responsibility and a collaborative partnership, integrated into an organizational culture of respect. This culture is built on the belief that all employees, both school-based and non-school-based, are essential to a successful learning environment.

In order to sustain an organizational culture of respect, it is critical that all employees have an awareness, understanding, and tolerance of others' interests, viewpoints, cultures, and backgrounds. This culture promotes a positive work environment that supports the success of each employee, high student achievement, and continuous improvement in a self-renewing organization.

Equity and Cultural Competence

The commitment to foster an organizational culture of respect that is embedded throughout the school system is a priority of the employee associations/unions, the Montgomery County Board of Education, the superintendent of schools, and executive staff. Inherent to this belief is the recognition that there is strength in diversity and the belief that all employees are essential to a successful learning community. Therefore, MCPS commits to creating a positive work environment that does the following:

- Believes that the inclusion of individuals with a broad range of experiences and backgrounds broadens and strengthens education and contributes to student achievement.
- Promotes knowledge and understanding of one's own cultural identity as it influences a culturally competent workplace.
- Values the uniqueness of cultures other than one's own and the richness of cultural diversity and commonality.
- Promotes awareness of and sensitivity to individual differences within various cultural groups.

- Does not tolerate discrimination in any form. It impedes MCPS's ability to discharge its responsibilities to all students and staff and achieve our community's long-standing efforts to create, foster, and promote equity, inclusion, and acceptance for all. The Board recognizes that equity goes beyond meeting the letter of the law. Equity also requires taking proactive steps to identify and redress implicit biases and structural and institutional barriers that too often have resulted in identifiable groups of students and staff being unjustifiably or disproportionately excluded from or underrepresented in key educational program areas and sectors of the workforce, as well as overidentified in student discipline actions. Continued vigilance is necessary to end identified inequities that students and staff experience because of their actual or perceived personal characteristics.*
 - *Personal characteristics include race, ethnicity, color, ancestry, national origin, religion, immigration status, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, family/parental status, marital status, age, physical or mental disability, poverty and socioeconomic status, language, or other legally or constitutionally protected attributes or affiliations.
- Promotes the value of diversity and equity in its professional development offerings, recruitment, hiring, and promotional practices.
- Provides venues for courageous conversations about diversity and equity in a safe, nonjudgmental environment.
- Promotes a focus on diversity and equity through the implementation of each competency.

Role of the Professional Growth System Implementation Teams

Implementation of the components of each professional growth system (PGS) is overseen by a joint multi-stakeholder implementation team. Each team is charged with monitoring the processes and procedures as set forth in the design of the PGS. Through a collaborative and problem-solving process, the implementation teams are responsible for defining expectations and practices and assessing their implementation of the PGSs. In addressing issues that have arisen, the decision-making process will be to seek consensus; when that is not possible, a voting process may be used. Issues that cannot be resolved at the implementation team level may be referred to the appropriate collaboration committee. All PGS handbooks are continuously updated to reflect changes in processes and procedures approved by the appropriate implementation team.

- The implementation teams meet regularly on a schedule agreed on by the members at a meeting prior to July 1, for the subsequent year.
- The implementation teams consist of representative members of the employee associations and administration.
- The implementation teams are chaired by the employee association presidents or designees and MCPS designees, who are appointed by the deputy superintendent.
- The meetings are facilitated by an appointee of the chief, Office of Human Resources and Development (OHRD).
- An agenda is developed with input from implementation team members or other collaboration committees.

RECRUITING AND STAFFING

Purpose

The SSPGS is essential for attracting and recruiting high-quality supporting services personnel. This comprehensive professional growth system is based on core competencies and performance criteria that reflect the high level of skills and commitment to excellence that is expected of all supporting services personnel. Providing professional development opportunities, such as mentoring and performance recognition, creates a positive climate that motivates individuals to apply for support positions. One of the goals of the SSPGS is to attract a diverse group of individuals. The SSPGS processes are equitable and clearly described so that candidates know what to expect and have confidence in the integrity of the system.

Definition of Recruiting

Recruiting is the process by which candidates are given opportunities to learn about the requirements, job expectations, and benefits of being an MCPS supporting services employee. This includes defining the process used to identify individuals suitable to apply for specific positions.

Recruiting Candidates

In the SSPGS, the process of recruiting includes identifying and encouraging talented personnel who exhibit the competencies—skills, knowledge, and abilities—required of a supporting services employee. Any individual interested in understanding the requirements of a position can review the job descriptions available on the MCPS website.

OHRD seeks highly qualified internal and external candidates from diverse backgrounds. Pathways to internal opportunities are provided through the professional development opportunities in SSPGS. External recruitment offers the possibility for hiring experienced candidates to work for MCPS. Avenues for recruitment include local community outreach, universities, other school systems, personal contacts, employee referrals, professional conferences, national publications, and other methods for soliciting interest at local, regional, state, and national levels.

Candidates need to understand the core competencies expected of our employees and exhibit behaviors that demonstrate these competencies, such as the overall safety and well-being of the students. (See pages 15-21.) An understanding of student learning and MCPS educational goals is central to working for MCPS.

Conclusion

It is the goal of OHRD to recruit the most qualified and talented pool of candidates interested in working for MCPS.

EVALUATION

Purpose

The evaluation component of the SSPGS serves to ensure and document quality performance of supporting services employees and provide feedback for continuous professional development.

The goals of the system are to—

- promote personal and organizational excellence,
- streamline the evaluation process, and
- focus on performance and growth.

Element of the Evaluation Process

Definition and Responsibilities of the Parties Involved

- Employee—the person who is being evaluated according to core competency criteria.
- Evaluator—the person who is the direct supervisor of the employee. When possible, the evaluator should be one supervisory level above the employee. For example, a building service manager would be the evaluator for a building service worker. A paraeducator would be evaluated by the school principal or assistant principal.
- Evaluations for employees without direct supervisors—
 When a supporting services employee does not work under the direction of an immediate supervisor, the evaluation document and meeting will be performed by the principal or administrator/supervisor, with input provided from indirect feedback sources. It is the responsibility of the principal to remain fully knowledgeable of the employee's performance, through periodic meetings with the employee regarding their ongoing job performance and progress on their professional development plan (PDP), as well as through ongoing consultation with providers of indirect feedback.
- Provider of indirect feedback—an MCPS administrator/ supervisor/resource teacher who does not have direct evaluator responsibility but who has first-hand knowledge of the employee's job performance, as measured by the core competencies. (See Evaluator Tip Sheet, p. 31.)

• Reviewer—the person who is ultimately responsible for the overall operations and performance of a division, department, or facility/school. When possible, the reviewer should be two supervisory levels above the employee. For example, the building service manager would ask a principal or designee to be the reviewer for a building service worker. In addition, the reviewer is responsible for ensuring that the evaluation accurately reflects an employee's job performance.

Note: In schools where there are no assistant principals, the roles of evaluator and reviewer may be performed by the principal. In this case, no reviewer signature is required on the evaluation form.

Evaluation Cycles

Formal evaluations are performed according to a regular cycle, which is not linked to or determinative of an employee's scheduled step increase in compensation. Step increases occur independent of evaluation cycles.

- New employees—A Permanent Status Evaluation occurs immediately prior to the end of the six-month probationary period. Another formal evaluation of new employees is required 18 months later, at the two-year mark of MCPS employment. After year two, formal evaluations are performed every three years.
- Current employees—All employees who have been evaluated at the end of the two-year mark, or who have been employed by MCPS in the same job classification for more than two years, will undergo a formal evaluation every three years.

Note: Employees hired prior to March 1 of a given year will be credited with one year of service in the evaluation cycle.

Circumstances Affecting Evaluation Cycles

If an employee has a change in position that requires a six-month probationary period, then the regular professional growth cycle would be interrupted. Upon successful completion of the probationary period in the new position, the employee would return to the place in the professional growth cycle where they were at the time immediately before the new position was taken. If the employee does not meet competency on the permanent status evaluation, they will be returned to their previously held position and will return to the place in the growth cycle where they were at the time immediately prior to taking the new position.

For employees who are in an evaluation year, evaluations are due for employees not meeting core competencies by the first Friday in March; but may be turned in as early as January 1 of that year. For employees who are meeting all core competencies, the evaluations are due by the last day of school for students. Regardless of the number of MCPS positions an employee holds, there will only be one professional growth cycle for each employee. For employees with multiple positions, a separate evaluation form should be completed for each position. Formal evaluations are not completed for employees who are in the Peer Assistance and Review (PAR) program.

Performance Improvement Process (PIP)

Overview

The Performance Improvement Process (PIP) provides underperforming supporting services employees with an opportunity to receive the intensive individualized assistance and professional development necessary to improve job performance and meet the core competency criteria of the SSPGS. PIP is the product of collaboration among representatives of the SEIU Local 500, administrators/supervisors, and MCPS, all of whom are committed to its successful implementation. PIP is available to all employees after their ninth month of employment, regardless of whether they are in an evaluation or a professional development year. Employees who are identified as underperforming between achieving permanent status and the end of the ninth month of employment may not be referred to PIP but must receive support at their work location.

PIP offers supporting services employees several strategies to address issues of underperformance, including a six-month Peer Assistance and Review (PAR) program, a 90-day (calendar days) Special Evaluation, the opportunity for reassignment to a previously held position at which the employee was successful, and resignation. Participation in the PAR program is voluntary. Underperforming employees who decide against participation in PAR and who reject the 90-day Special Evaluation option may choose to either return to a position at which they were successful in the past or resign. Employees are not eligible to voluntarily transfer to or apply for another position while they are in PAR or a 90-day Special Evaluation.

Definition and Responsibilities of the Parties Involved

- It is the responsibility of all parties to adhere to appropriate levels of confidentiality regarding an employee's inclusion in PIP.
- Employees who have received a "Does Not Meet Competency" rating in one or more core competencies on a formal evaluation, or who have a documented underperformance that has been discussed with them by their administrator/ supervisor, are referred to PIP by the administrator/ supervisor.

- An employee holding the same position (title and job classification) at more than one MCPS location who is referred to PIP by an administrator/supervisor at one location and chooses PAR, will receive PGC support in all locations.
- In the multiyear professional growth cycle of the SSPGS, administrators/supervisors are responsible for evaluating their employees as well as supporting them during their professional growth years. They gather data independent of the professional growth consultant (PGC) on the employee's progress while the employee is in the PAR program. They continue to observe, provide feedback, and coordinate support when necessary. No information from the PGC reports may be used by an administrator/supervisor in their own evaluation of an employee.
- The PGCs are the direct liaisons among employees, administrators/supervisors, and the PAR Panel. They work under the direction of a SEIU Liaison or Lead PGC, who is the contact person for administrators/ supervisors referring an employee to PIP. The lead PGC assigns cases and serves as the primary facilitator for the PGC staff. (When the SEIU executive vice president is not an MCPS employee, the SEIU president will appoint the SEIU Liaison to the Professional Growth Systems who will also serve as the co-chair of the SSPGS PAR Panel. In these instances, the appointee will take on the lead PGC responsibilities.) PGCs are experienced supporting services personnel who demonstrate outstanding professionalism and oral and written communication skills. They provide assistance and direct support to employees who do not meet core competencies during a formal evaluation or who are referred to PIP by an administrator/supervisor on the basis of a documented history of underperformance on the job. While PGCs share observations and final summative reports with administrators/supervisors, that documentation and the formal evaluation by the supervisor are independent of each other.

The PGC position works on a four-year rotation schedule. After two years away from the position, former PGCs may re-apply for a second rotation but will only be considered if the PGC team needs their particular expertise. The co-chairs of the Supporting Services PAR Panel will determine what, if any, expertise is needed.

The duties of the PGC include the following:

- » Conducting fact-finding with administrators/ supervisors and the referred employees.
- » Conducting initial intake meetings with employees to identify appropriate strategies for resolving jobrelated underperformance issues.
- » Reporting the outcome of intake meetings to the PAR triad/quad and other stakeholders.

- » Assisting with the design of action plans for employees who opt for Special Evaluation.
- » Finalizing a PAR Agreement for employees who opt for the PAR program that specifies the commitments and expectations relating to job performance on the part of the referring administrator/supervisor and the employee.
- » Maintaining a database of caseload histories.
- » Performing on-site observations.
- » Helping employees remedy core competency deficiencies.
- » Coordinating support structures for improving technical job knowledge.
- » Guiding employees' efforts to contribute to student achievement.
- » Providing feedback to employees.
- » Meeting with and providing feedback to referring administrators/supervisors.
- » Preparing and submitting monthly to the PAR Panel, summary documentation and judgments regarding the progress of employees in the PAR program.
- The PAR Panel oversees the PAR component of PIP. It consists of 12 members appointed by the superintendent of schools: six representatives, including a co-chair, from supporting services recommended by SEIU Local 500 and six representatives, including a co-chair, recommended by MCPS. Panel members serve for five years. PAR Panel members are accountable to their respective organizations to ensure organizational and institutional support of the program. They hear the summative reports and recommendations provided by the PGCs and are responsible for the overall success of the program. The PAR Panel sends its recommendations directly to the superintendent of schools, or the superintendent's designee, who reviews and makes final decisions on all matters related to an individual employee's employment status.

The duties of the PAR Panel may include the following:

- » Reviewing the disposition of all cases referred to PIP.
- » Overseeing the cases of employees involved in PAR.
- » Recruiting, interviewing, and selecting the PGCs.
- » Evaluating the performance of the PGCs.
- » Meeting monthly with the PGCs to receive reports on employee progress in the PAR program.
- » Advising the PGCs regarding sources of support for employees.
- » Reviewing concerns of participating employees or administrators/supervisors regarding PAR.

- » Making one of the following personnel recommendations to the superintendent of schools, or their designee, at the completion of an employee's PAR participation, based on the PGC's reports, the administrator's/supervisor's data, and other supporting information.
 - 1. Successful completion of the PAR program and return to the regular professional growth cycle.
 - 2. Recommendation of a return to a previously successful position, if the underperformance is based solely on not meeting the Knowledge of Job competency.
 - 3. Dismissal.

Components of the Performance Improvement Process

PIP is designed to provide underperforming supporting services employees with the professional development opportunities required to improve performance and meet the core competency criteria of the SSPGS. It is a mechanism for maintaining systemwide quality control and a highly skilled and effective workforce. The following are components of PIP:

Referral—In order to make a referral and initiate PIP, an administrator/supervisor must contact the director of the Department of Professional Growth Systems (DPGS), OHRD, with evidence of an employee's underperformance. Referrals to PIP take place under the following circumstances:

- Evaluation Year Process—An administrator/ supervisor assigns to an employee a "Does Not Meet Core Competency" rating in one or more core competencies during a formal evaluation. Documentation supporting this rating will be provided to the assigned PGC.
- Non-Evaluation Year Process—An administrator/ supervisor has identified and documented underperformance that has been discussed with the employee over time. To make a referral, the administrator/supervisor should send email to the director of DPGS.

Minimum Guidelines for Sufficient Documentation for Referral to the Performance Improvement Process

Underperformance concerns must be documented in a minimum of three documents per related core competency and indicate that the supervisor did the following:

- explained expectations for meeting competency;
- provided support, strategies, and feedback to improve performance; and

• allowed the employee a reasonable amount of time to improve performance.

The documentation informing the employee of performance concerns was signed and dated by the employee. If the employee declined to sign, a witness to the interaction signed a sentence to that effect.

The underperformance concerns and related documentation occurred within the last three years from the date of the referral.

Fact Finding/Eligibility to Transfer—A PGC is assigned to the case by the lead PGC or PAR Panel co-chair. The PGC conducts interviews and, together with their PAR triad/quad, analyzes information from the administrator/ supervisor and the employee to determine the merits of the referral.

If the PGC and PAR triad/quad determine there is sufficient data to substantiate underperformance concerns, an intake meeting is scheduled. The PGC notifies the director of DPGS, the director and the assistant director of Human Capital Management, the referring administrator/supervisor, the employee, and other stakeholders of the scheduled date. Until the notification occurs, the employee is eligible to participate in the voluntary transfer process. If the employee has an application in progress before the initial intake meeting is scheduled, it will not be interrupted; the employee will be allowed to interview and accept a position if it is offered.

The application and performance improvement processes continue on parallel tracks. Once the employee has been given notification of the initial intake meeting, no further new applications will be considered. The employee will only be able to accept a new position if the offer was made based on an application submitted prior to the notification of intake.

Intake Meeting—If the PGC and the PAR triad/quad determine that a referral is merited, an initial intake meeting is scheduled. The initial meeting will be scheduled within 10 working days of the submission of appropriate documentation by the referring administrator/supervisor and referred employee. The initial intake meeting provides the PGC with the opportunity to discuss with the employee the issues prompting the referral as well as options available to address the issues. The employee is then able to make an informed decision regarding the best action to take. At the final intake meeting (at least three working days later), the employee informs the PGC of their choice. The results of all intake meetings go to the co-chairs of the PAR Panel, the Office of Human Resources and Development, the president of SEIU, and the administrator/supervisor.

If, on the basis of fact finding, the PGC believes that the documentation with the referral DOES NOT merit continued involvement in PIP, the PGC would report that outcome to the PAR triad/quad for review. Upon confirmation, the employee would remain in their current position and continue in the professional growth cycle. The PGC would notify the administrator/supervisor and the director of DPGS. They would then ensure that the final rating on the employee's evaluation is changed to "Meets All Core Competencies."

If, on the basis of fact finding, the PGC finds that the documentation supports competency deficiencies and indicates a need for continued involvement in PIP, the PGC would explain the options available to the employee. The employee would then reach a decision regarding which of the following options to choose:

- Peer Assistance and Review (PAR) Program—If, as a result of the intake meeting, the employee decides to participate in the PAR program, the PGC would inform the referring administrator/supervisor. Then, in collaboration with all stakeholders, the PGC creates a PAR Agreement and presents it to their PAR triad/quad for vetting. Once vetted, the PGC meets with the employee and administrator/ supervisor to review and sign the Agreement. The PAR program may last for up to six months, during which time the PGC would carefully monitor the progress of the employee, conduct progress meetings to provide feedback on their work in the program, and report back to the PAR Panel. The employee waives their right to grieve a termination for performance reasons when they enter the PAR program. (See the SEIU Local 500 negotiated Agreement, Article 29F.)
- Special Evaluation—A 90-day (calendar days) Special Evaluation is available to the employee in lieu of the PAR program. In some circumstances, an employee's best option may not be PAR. A process of shorter duration or sharper focus may be accomplished by means of a 90-day Special Evaluation. A special evaluation, which occurs under the auspices of OHRD, offers local support, the development of an Action Plan to address issues of underperformance, and constructive feedback from local administrators. Action Plans are designed by the administrator/ supervisor and the employee, in collaboration, and it is the responsibility of those two parties to see that the provisions for support and improvement are met. Because a special evaluation is not part of PAR, the employee is not assigned to a PGC and the PAR Panel has no oversight over the case. Grievance rights are retained. (See the SEIU Local 500 negotiated Agreement, Article 29F.)

• Return to a previous position of success—An employee may opt to return to a position in which they were previously successful, if that position is available and provided that returning to the previously held position does not result in a promotion within their existing job family (see MCPS Career Pathways website for more information www. montgomeryschoolsmd.org/departments/personnel/ career-pathways/index.aspx). Positions with a separate POS Code, for reasons not related to job content, should be considered the same position, for purposes of this section. If the employee chooses to return to a position at which they were successful in the past, the six-month probationary period is waived and the regular evaluation process is applied. If the employee has held only one position in MCPS, and therefore does not have a previously successful position to return to, this option does not apply. This choice may result in a placement at a lower pay grade and salary reduction.

If an underperforming employee does not choose any of these options, the 90-day Special Evaluation would be the default decision.

Note: PAR is a one-time option per employee in any one job classification. If an employee already has taken advantage of the PAR program and underperformance concerns in the same job classification arise at a later date, a referral to PIP in the form of an email or evaluation may be made to OHRD. A PGC would conduct fact finding to determine the merits of the referral. If, on the basis of fact finding, the PGC finds that the documentation in the referral does not merit continued involvement in PIP, the PGC would report that outcome to the director of DPGS and the administrator/supervisor. If, on the basis of fact finding, the PGC finds that the documentation in the referral does relate to core competency deficiencies and indicates a need for continued involvement in PIP, the employee may choose the 90-day Special Evaluation, return to a previously held successful position, if available and applicable, or resign/retire.

The Peer Assistance and Review (PAR) Agreement or Action Plan—In order for PIP to work, both the employee and the referring administrator/supervisor must be invested in the process and committed to a strategy to address issues of underperformance. For employees opting for the PAR program, a PAR Agreement must be approved by the administrator/supervisor, the PGC, and employee, and then vetted by the PAR triad/quad. For employees opting for a 90-day Special Evaluation, an Action Plan must be designed by the referring administrator/supervisor and the employee, under the auspices of the director of the DPGS. The PAR Agreement and the Action Plan are intended to address specific areas of underperformance. They may include formal and informal training opportunities, peer coaching, and other appropriate avenues of support. Strategies for support included in the PAR Agreement or Action Plan should, whenever possible, be provided to an employee during their regular schedule. Employees shall be permitted to attend and be granted professional leave to fulfill the strategies listed in the PAR Agreement or Action Plan. It should take approximately 30 working days between the original referral and the signing of the PAR Agreement or Action Plan. Communication and collaboration among the PGCs, administrators/supervisors, central services staff, and other MCPS offices and resources are essential to PIP.

Mechanics of the Peer Assistance and Review (PAR) Program

The PAR program is voluntary and is designed to resolve underperformance issues and provide employees with the skills they need for success. After referral to PIP, a PGC will research the case and schedule an intake meeting for the employee. PAR is one of the options presented by the PGC and begins once an employee and their administrator/supervisor are committed to a PAR Agreement and the Agreement has been vetted by all the parties involved. The PGC assigned to the case coordinates resources and monitors the employee's progress through six months of peer assistance. During this period, the PGC meets with administrator/ supervisor and employee; performs a minimum of two formal observations—one announced and one unannounced; collects and records data pertinent to the case; provides additional resources for technical support as required; and makes monthly reports to the PAR Panel. PAR support will be extended by two weeks for an employee when the employee has returned from 10 or more working days of leave approved by the Employee and Retiree Service Center (not annual or personal leave) or when there has been a transition of a new PGC supporting the employee. A total of four weeks of extensions will be permitted during PAR. At the three-month mark of the PAR program, the PGC, with the PAR Panel's acknowledgement, conducts and interim conference with the employee to discuss their progress in PAR and complete an Interim Conference Form.

 If demonstrable progress has been made toward the resolution of underperformance issues, the employee may continue in the PAR program for the remaining three-month period or, if underperformance issues have been resolved, the employee may be released from the PAR program at that time, if all stakeholders and the PAR Panel are in agreement. • If demonstrable progress has not been made during the initial three months of the PAR program, the employee may continue in the PAR program for the remaining three-month period or the PGC may discuss with the employee an option to return to a position in which they were previously successful, if such a position is available.

The PAR Panel is informed of the determination.

If the employee chooses to return to a position in which they were previously successful, the PGC will inform the Department of Human Capital Management. The Department of Human Capital Management will follow the standard policy of reassignment. If the successful employee chooses to continue for the remaining three months of the PAR program, at the end of the sixth month, the PGC would present a summative report and final judgment to the PAR Panel. The PGC may determine that:

- The employee has met the core competencies.
- The employee has not met the core competencies.

The PGC meets with the administrator/supervisor before the final judgment is made to the PAR Panel. At that time, both parties would review the summative report and the PGC's judgment.

The PGC meets with and informs the employee of the judgment that is going to the PAR Panel and reviews the summative report with the employee. The PAR Panel would then make the final personnel recommendation to the superintendent of schools or their designee.

The PAR Panel requires a quorum of eight members in order to vote—four from SEIU and four from MCAAP/MCBOA. Outcomes are decided on a majority rules basis.

Recommendation Process

Agreement: The PGC and administrator/supervisor agree that the employee meets competency.

If the PGC and the administrator/supervisor agree that the employee meets competency, the PAR Panel would make a final recommendation to return the employee to their professional growth cycle. The PAR Panel notifies the employee and administrator/supervisor of the decision in writing. In the case of agreement among all parties, the employee and the administrator/supervisor do not attend a PAR Panel meeting.

If the PAR Panel disagrees with the judgment of the PGC that a client meets competency, the Panel will reconvene within 10 working days. At this meeting, the administrator/supervisor(s) will have 10 minutes to present to the Panel regarding their judgment that the client is meeting competency. The Panel members may ask the administrator/supervisor(s) questions for 10 minutes.

The client will have the option to present to the Panel, send a written statement to the SEIU Liaison to the Professional Growth Systems to be distributed to the Panel, or decline to do either option. If the client chooses to present, they may have SEIU representation accompany them to serve as a process observer. The client will have 10 minutes to present, and the Panel will have 10 minutes to ask questions. After these presentations, the Panel may request that the PGC return for further questioning.

Once the presentations are completed, the Panel will vote on whether they agree with the PGC's judgment that the client meets competency.

Agreement: The PGC and administrator/supervisor agree that the employee does not meet competency.

If the PGC and administrator/supervisor agree that the employee does not meet competency, the administrator/supervisor would have to appear before the PAR Panel. The employee may appear before the PAR Panel.

Disagreement: The PGC and administrator/supervisor disagree that the employee does not meet competency or the employee disagrees with PGC and administrator/supervisor that they do not meet competency.

If the PGC and administrator/supervisor disagree about whether an employee has met competency, the administrator/supervisor would have to appear before the PAR Panel. The employee may appear before the PAR Panel.

In reviewing the facts related to the recommendation from the PGC that an employee has not met the competency, if the PAR Panel concludes that the underperformance is based solely on not meeting competency number 2, Knowledge of the Job, the PAR Panel may make a recommendation that the employee be allowed to return to a previously held position at which the employee was successful. This would be in lieu of a recommendation to the superintendent of schools for termination.

PAR Program Safeguards

In order to guarantee a fair and impartial outcome, the following safeguards have been put in place to protect all parties involved in the PAR program:

- Employees may not be forced into the PAR program. Based on information and guidance given to them at intake meetings by the PGC, they decide whether or not to participate in PAR.
- If an administrator/supervisor refers an employee to PIP as a result of a formal evaluation or a documented history of underperformance and the recommendation of the PGC is that, based on the evidence, the employee does in fact meet competency and neither PAR nor Special Evaluation is needed, the administrator/supervisor may present additional data to the PAR Panel in support of their contention. Final decisions rest with the PGC/PAR triad/quad. If they determine the referral is not warranted, the employee's evaluation would be revised to reflect that the final rating is changed to "Meets All Core Competencies."

- Once an employee has gone through the PAR program, if they feel improperly assessed and that a judgment of not meeting competency by the PGC is not appropriate, the employee may present data to support their contention to the PAR Panel. The decision of the PAR Panel is final, pending the superintendent's or designee's approval.
- At the three- or six-month review, if the PAR Panel determines that an employee has met core competencies and recommends that the employee return to their professional growth cycle and the superintendent or designee overturns that determination, the employee may file a grievance. This is the only circumstance under which an employee who has opted for PAR may file a grievance.
- A memorandum will be placed in the employee's personnel file to reflect either successful completion of PAR or a recommendation of termination.

PAR Program Follow-up

One year after successful completion of PAR, the administrator/supervisor will evaluate the employee to ensure maintenance of skills using MCPS Form 430-90, Evaluation Form: Supporting Services Professional Growth System. The supervisor would indicate on the form that the evaluation is a PAR follow-up. If the PAR follow-up coincides with the employee's evaluation year in the professional growth cycle, then the PAR follow-up evaluation would replace the scheduled formal evaluation for that year.

- If the employee continues to meet competencies, they will continue in the professional growth cycle.
- If the employee does not meet one or more competencies, a PGC will conduct fact finding. If fact finding reveals that the documentation presented has merit, the employee will have only three options available:
 - » A 90-day Special Evaluation,
 - » Return to a previously held successful position if available and applicable, or
 - » Resignation/retirement.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Vision

The professional development process of the SSPGS will provide comprehensive professional development opportunities that support the continuous growth of a skilled and effective workforce and reflect best practices for adult learners.

Purpose

A major component of the SSPGS is a comprehensive professional development process for all support professionals. The professional development process provides employees with a variety of high-quality, work-related opportunities that expand their job knowledge, help them acquire new skills, and offer support toward meeting all core competency expectations at the time of their scheduled evaluations. A well-designed professional development process promotes individual success on the job and enhances the organizational effectiveness of MCPS.

The SSPGS is based on a three-year evaluation and professional growth cycle that begins at the end of the second year of employment in a position. (For employees hired new to MCPS, the first six-month period of employment in any position is probationary. After permanent status is attained, the employee is evaluated 18 months later at the two-year mark. Scheduled evaluations occur every three years thereafter.) At the beginning of a professional growth cycle, each employee collaborates with their supervisor to discuss areas for growth and identify strategies for successfully meeting professional goals. It is expected that the discussions occur in meetings with the unit member's supervisor during the normal workday of the unit member. In the rare instance that this is not possible, the schedule of the unit member may be adjusted, by mutual agreement, on the day when the meeting is held. In situations where the meeting must occur outside the normal work hours of the unit member and the schedule cannot be adjusted, the supervisor must request and obtain approval for overtime prior to scheduling the meeting.

As the primary component of the professional development process, the formal discussion does the following:

- Provides structure and accountability so that expectations are realistic, understood by both parties, and met in a reasonable manner.
- Enhances performance in the seven core competencies.
- Provides flexibility in the identification of professional growth goals.
- Aligns individual opportunities with the goals and objectives of specific work locations.
- Offers potential for long-range planning that may be revisited and adjusted on an annual basis.
- Contributes to workforce and organizational excellence.

Activities and Practices for Professional Development

The kinds of activities that employee and supervisor discuss demonstrate a thoughtful assessment of current needs; available development opportunities; and future individual, departmental, and organizational goals. Continuous professional development, which benefits both the employee and the organization, may take many forms. Examples of professional development activities appropriate for consideration include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Training development
- Certificate/degree programs
- Staff development opportunities
- · Advisor peer coach or shadowing
- Reflection log
- Committees, task forces, work groups, etc.

Professional Development Review

An employee's progress in meeting the agreed upon goals should be reviewed at least annually by the supervisor and the employee through a collaborative dialogue. By the end of the professional growth cycle, and in anticipation of an employee's scheduled evaluation, regular communication between the employee and the supervisor should ensure that measurable progress has been documented and professional goals met.

Exceptions to the Professional Development Discussion

There are two exceptions, employees who are participating in the PAR program under the terms of a PAR Agreement and employees who are in a 90-day Special Evaluation under the terms of an Action Plan are exempt from having a formal professional development discussion while they are in PAR or special evaluation. When these employees successfully fulfill the terms of their PAR Agreement or Action Plan and meet the requirements of any follow-up evaluations, they resume participation in the professional growth cycle and are expected to collaborate with their supervisor to establish professional development goals.

Supporting Services Mentoring Program

The Supporting Services Mentoring Program is an important component of the SSPGS that provides additional strategies to ensure the employment of highly qualified and diverse support personnel. The Supporting Services Mentoring Program provides mentors upon request to permanent staff to help them excel in their roles, direct them to training and on-the-job work experiences, and prepare them for career development opportunities.

Career Pathways Program

The Career Pathways Program supports SEIU Local 500 unit members to identify career goals and obtain training and direction to attain those goals. The Career Pathways Program offers opportunities for employees to improve their knowledge and skills in content areas that will enable them to reach their career goals, with programs and processes in place to support those objectives.

Conclusion

The SSPGS is intended to provide employees with an environment in which continuous professional development is encouraged. This presupposes that supervisors and employees together take an active role in the design of professional development goals that are realistic, motivational, clear, and effective. The professional development of supporting services employees improves the performance of the individual employee, increases capacity in the organization, and contributes to the success of our students.

RECOGNITION

An organization's success ultimately depends on the commitment of its employees to the organization's vision and goals. MCPS is committed to employee recognition. Recognizing and celebrating those employees who use their diverse knowledge, skills, creativity, and motivation to contribute to the overall success of MCPS is an important component of the SSPGS. The recognition component provides opportunity to highlight the individual achievement of staff in a positive and supportive manner that is consistent with a professional learning community.

Motivation and encouragement promotes a higher standard of performance from employees. The recognition component supports MCPS in its efforts to attract and retain the most qualified employees. Recognition identifies individuals and best practices for celebration and creates and supports an atmosphere of respect within the schools, offices, departments, and divisions of MCPS and the larger community.

Role of Recognition

The role of the recognition component is to identify those practices, performances, and achievements attained by an individual/team that make them stand out. The system sets a standard for excellence by acknowledging these accomplishments. Employee accomplishments to be recognized may include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Earning a degree or certificate.
- Serving specified years in MCPS.
- Performing an act of heroism.
- Receiving awards outside of MCPS.

- Training an intern/new employee.
- Acting as a mentor or peer coach.
- Presenting at a professional conference.
- Holding office in a professional organization.
- Outstanding performance.
- Serving on school system committees.
- Developing better procedures for performing a task.
- Completing unique assignments.
- Teaching courses or training teams or individuals.
- Developing innovative or creative ideas.

Recognition Methods

The recognition of individuals for outstanding work is critical to a positive work environment and enhances the overall work climate. Locally made certificates and awards, verbal recognition at staff meetings, and a "thank you" are examples of employee recognition at the local level that promote increased morale and support a positive work environment. All stakeholders have a responsibility to identify and acknowledge the achievements of the people with whom they supervise and collaborate. As noted, recognition can take a variety of forms that include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Letters of appreciation.
- Recognition at a staff, cluster, administrative and supervisory, or Board of Education meeting.
- Plagues and certificates.
- Professional growth opportunities.
- Articles in The Bulletin/newspaper/website.
- Above and Beyond the Call of Duty (ABCD) awards.
- Nominations for community awards.
- Nominations for Chapter Employee of the Year awards.
- Nominations for the Supporting Services Employee of the Year award.

PART I—CORE COMPETENCIES

The core competencies listed below are defined by performance criteria. These performance criteria offer suggestions for how the core competencies may be observed. (See SSPGS Handbook.)

Rating: There are two possible ratings—Meets Competency and Does Not Meet Competency. Using the examples/evidence, determine the overall assessment of the employee's performance in a particular competency.

- Meets Competency (MC): Reflects performance over a sustained period of time that clearly and consistently meets competency performance criteria as cited in the SSPGS Handbook.
- Does Not Meet Competency (NMC): Reflects performance that regularly fails to meet competency performance criteria.

EVALUATOR TIP SHEET

Some supporting services staff members spend most of their time working with an MCEA unit member or other MCPS employees (e.g., an area supervisor or manager, resource teacher, media specialist, or instructional specialist) who are not direct-line supervisors. The evaluator should request feedback from non-evaluators who participate in managing or directing the employee's work load. Feedback should—

- be aligned to the seven core competencies,
- be shared,
- be objective,
- recognize employee strengths, and
- provide suggestions to encourage improvement.

Providers of indirect feedback, including but not limited to MCEA unit members, may not write or sign evaluations.

Use the employee's job description to assist in evaluation writing.

The Board prohibits the use of language and/or the display of images and symbols that promote hate and can be reasonably expected to cause substantial disruption to school or district operations or activities. For more information, please review Montgomery County Board of Education Policy ACA, Nondiscrimination, Equity, and Cultural Proficiency. This Policy affirms the Board's belief that each and every student matters, and in particular, that educational outcomes should never be predictable by any individual's actual or perceived personal characteristics. The Policy also recognizes that equity requires proactive steps to identify and redress implicit biases, practices that have an unjustified disparate impact, and structural and institutional barriers that impede equality of educational or employment opportunities. MCPS also provides equal access to the Boy/Girl Scouts and other designated youth groups.
