

ELMO-document camera set-up Additional Information

- If the computer uses DVI, then a DVI to RGB adapter will be needed.
- There are many different setup configurations. However, with some of those setups you will lose some functionality of the ELMO.
 - EX: If you run the RGB cable directly from the projector to the computer, without running through the ELMO, the ability to toggle between the ELMO and the computer is lost.

DRAFT August 2011

ELMO-document camera set-up Additional Information

- If you don't connect the USB cable from the ELMO to the computer you lose the ability to use Image Mate.
- If you are using the new NEC projectors that were sent out recently with the ELMOs and connect to a base computer, the projector and ELMO will need to be powered on for the image on be on the monitor as well as project.

DRAFT August 2011