Libraries Rock! Montgomery County Public Libraries – Summer Reading Program

On Tuesday, the children's librarians from the Germantown branch of the Public Library presented our Bullfrogs with the Summer Reading Program, Libraries Rock! To participate, students sign up at the library or online (see link below). When they sign up, they receive a game board/activity guide plus a free ticket to a Frederick Keys baseball game.

Throughout the summer, students read a total of (9) books or complete (9) of the activities (or any combination). Along the way, they will receive fun incentive prizes as they complete three, six and finally nine total. As a bonus, students who read (12) books, will receive a medal for their efforts. To enhance the program, the library has some fantastic free programs for children and families from STEM projects to puppets to live animals. You can find out all the details for the Libraries Rock! Summer Reading Program here: <https://tinyurl.com/y7g9bb2r>

We'd like to encourage all families to participate in the Libraries Rock! Summer Reading Program at the county library.
