

Food Recovery

A Quick Start Guide

The food recovery program is a free program offered by the Sustainability and Compliance Team (SCT) where schools are provided a free refrigerator and cart to reduce cafeteria food waste.

To get started:

1. Identify a person from your school who will be responsible for monitoring and maintaining the fridge. This person, the food recovery coordinator, will receive a stipend!
2. The food recovery coordinator will meet with SCT staff to go over the logistics of the program.
3. The principal will then need to sign off on the program and indicate dates they are available for a lunch kickoff assembly.
4. A fridge and food safe cart will be delivered to your school, and SCT staff will stay for all the lunch periods to introduce the new students to the program and its procedures.
