Check This Student Out!!!

Erica Crist is a junior at Seneca Valley high school. Her drama teacher, Ms. Joanna Fellows, says she is a “quadruple threat! Not only can she sing, act and dance, she can sew and design costumes like a pro!” Erica will take over as head costumer for her senior year for Birds of Play theatrical productions.

Erica is putting her talent for sewing to good use during the school closure. She received an email from Ms. Fellows with a link to a nurse’s video that gave instructions on how to make face masks. Since March 16th, she has made over 400 face masks. She has been sewing non-stop.

Her masks have been donated to numerous locations such as nursing homes, vet clinics, pediatric and health clinics plus essential workers.

An e-mail message sent out to Next Door has generated support through donations to purchase more materials. Erica continues to receive requests to make masks, especially for people with compromised immune systems. The notes of thanks and gratitude she receives makes her work all the more worthwhile. Erica was asked to donate her pattern, story and a few masks to the Montgomery County Historical Society Museum for the preservation of this trying time and the community's response during the 2020 Covid-19 pandemic.

Thank you Erica for your service to your school, Birds of Play and your community!
