

PROGRAM GUIDE

Program Summary and Goals

These are strange times we are living in. It is certainly easy to lose focus on exercise since so many gyms have closed, and races cancelled. However, it is really important for adults to be active and keep moving. Not only is exercise good for us physically but it is also really important for our mental health.

If your exercise routine has gotten off track, or you need a reason to start a program, this is your chance! Well Aware is challenging you to hit the reset button, reconnect with your teammates, and recommit to exercise by joining the Going the (Physical) Distance Relay.

The best way to reconnect is with the race that you can't do on your own. And while we physically can't be together, we can use this time to connect socially, and encourage each other. So, make a team, exercise on your own, and stay in touch! Teams can work together to encourage healthy habits, and support each other through a 10-week activity challenge.

Interested in participating independently? That's fine too! Follow the hashtag #mcpsgtpr on twitter for challenge pictures, inspiration, and healthy tips.

Participants will log their activity throughout the challenge, and track their progress using the online Well Aware Fitness Log. Based on participation, you will be eligible to win prizes for yourself, your team, and your school or office. The online Well Aware Fitness Log is available to you 24/7, so log your activity at any time!

The Coach's Role

Volunteer coaches serve as program coordinators and champions at their work locations; they are the engine of the wellness program. Schools and central services locations should select an individual or create a team of individuals who will be successful in motivating staff to participate and stay engaged throughout the school year. These individuals may have served as a coach in a previous activity challenge or may be new to the role.

The coach's responsibilities include the following:

- Recruit staff to participate in the challenge.
- Assist all staff members with becoming part of the challenge (e.g., assisting with online Well Aware Fitness Log registration).
- Inform staff about the program via e-mail, staff announcements, lounge bulletin boards, and other preferred communication methods at the coach's work location.
- Train staff on the online tools and provide support as needed, including showing staff how to log in and report activity. (Videos are available on the GTPDR webpage to assist with this task.)
- Provide support and motivation for participants throughout the challenge.
- Collaborate with school/location leadership to ensure program success.

If you previously served as a coach for a Well Aware physical activity challenge, and you are interested in continuing in this role, or if you are interested in serving as a coach for the first time, e-mail Well Aware.

Participate as a team/school to increase physical activity, and build a culture of wellness in your school or office. Teams and schools with the most average minutes of activity per member per team will win a grand prize grant.

Participating as an individual

Participate as an individual by logging your individual activity. All activity counts! Average at least 30 minutes per day to get entered into the weekly prize drawing.

Participating as part of a team

Gather your coworkers in a team of 3-15 people. Encourage your team to exercise and log their activity. Teams must log a minimum of 30 minutes per member per day to qualify for a grand prize.

Participating as a school

When you register in the online Well Aware Fitness Log, you register under a school or office. Your activity will count in the challenge for that location. If you have changed locations, make sure to update this in the log. Schools must log a minimum of 30 minutes per member per day to qualify for a grand prize.

Log your physical activity time in the online Well Aware Fitness Log for your chance to win weekly and grand prizes.

Online Well Aware Fitness Log

Your activity will be tracked via the online Well Aware Fitness Log. To participate, you must first register on the fitness log, which can also be found through the Well Aware web page or the GTPDR web page. You may register for an account and log your activity at any time. If you participated in any of the previous activity challenges, you do not need to re-register.

Enter your physical activity type and time. You can log every activity from gardening and housework to yoga, Zumba, and everything in between.

You do not need to enter daily to qualify. Activity for any week can be entered all at one time, but must be logged by the following Monday at 12 noon to count toward the previous week's prize.

You will not be able to log any activity completed prior to the previous two weeks. This assures that individuals are staying consistent with their entries and activity.

For the purpose of prizes, you will be able to enter a maximum of two hours of activity per day.

Teams

If you are motivated best through the camaraderie of working together, you may form teams and compete for prizes and bragging rights. You may choose to be on a team with colleagues from your school, your office, or across MCPS; teams are not limited to one location. In addition, each location may have multiple teams. Once you have agreed to join a team, a team captain must be selected to establish the team on the Well Aware Fitness Log. See the “Online Tools” section of this guide for additional details. Teams must be made up of 3 to 15 individuals and all team activity will be averaged to ensure a fair competition.

Online Tools

Going the Physical Distance Relay will be managed using two online resources:

1. The GTPDR web page
2. The Well Aware Fitness Log

Both pages will offer competition updates, tools for registering and using the fitness log, and tips and motivation to keep moving.

Well Aware Fitness Log

The Well Aware Fitness Log is the main resource for this competition. The log allows participants to track activity, log progress, and become eligible for prizes. The fitness log also displays competition updates—including leading teams—to promote friendly competition and peer support to help motivate you to reach your goals.

As always, you can view your individual statistics in the Reports section of the log.

Registering on the Fitness Log

The first time you visit the Well Aware Fitness Log, you will be prompted to register. You must enter and then confirm your e-mail address and confirm that you have read and accept the Terms of Service (available on the site). When you submit this information, you will receive a welcome e-mail that contains your username and password. Use this username and password to access the Well Aware Fitness Log. During your first visit to the log, you can update your information to a username and password of your choice. Keep your log-in information in a safe place. You can register at any time. If you lose or forget your username or password, e-mail Well Aware for assistance.

If you have changed positions, locations, or schools since you registered, make sure to update your location data. To do this, click on the ACCOUNT drop-down box. Choose PROFILE. Update your school or office location in the drop-down box on that screen.

Creating a Team on the Fitness Log

To establish a team, all participants must first register on the Well Aware Fitness Log. One team member should take the lead as team captain, who will establish the team using the fitness log. The team captain must log into the fitness log and select team members to invite to join the team. Once invited, team members will receive an e-mail and must confirm their team membership by following directions in the e-mail. As with all Well Aware programs, you are not required to participate on a team.

For complete instructions and assistance with forming a team, you can watch a help video on the GTPDR web page or ask the coach at your location.
