The course combines the content and skill development of AP U.S. Government and Politics and National, State, and Local Government. AP United States Government and Politics with SSL may be used to satisfy the graduation requirement for National, State and Local Government A and B. SSL hours: first semester, 7; second semester, 8 |
| 2330/2331   | AP Psychology A/B                                                                             | 11-12 | This college-level course prepares students for the AP exam. Students scientifically study behavior and investigate the psychological domains-methods of research, biopsychology, cognitive processes, lifespan development, and sociocultural dimensions of behavior, thinking and language, states of consciousness, individual differences, personality and assessment, and psychological disorders and their treatment. |
| 2232/2233   | IB Psychology                                                                                 | 11-12 | This course focuses on the nature of human beings, appreciation of psychology, and methods of psychological inquiry. Students study human behavior through four psychological perspectives: behavioral, cognitive, humanistic/phenomenological, and psychodynamic. Students also study research design, methods, statistics, and ethical issues in psychological research and application and undertake one internally assessed research study. |
| 3864/3865   | Forensics Science A/B                                                                          | 11-12 | A hands-on, interactive course using a variety of modalities including: computer lab time, crime scene creation, crime museum field trip, observation of dead organisms and classroom labs. Students study forensic science and modern criminal investigation analysis. |
